THE INELASTICITY OF THE CURRENCY AND THE MONETARY SPASM.

The sudden reaction of the money market yesterday. after the final spasm which colminated on Wednesday and Thursday, has produced a simultaneous advance in governments, steeks and gold. As to the monetary change, it is ascribed to a number of causes, some of which are real and others imaginary. Among the former is the accumula. tion of money here from the country. This is the natura' return of the currency lately drained from us to meet the April payments. The return has been somewhat hastened by the fact that there is little Lusiness doing in the country, the Spring being backward; while, on the other hand, money has been lending on such extravagant terms here that it has been attracted from more idle centres where it could not command more than ordinary rates.

A second reason assigned for the relaxation is the action of the Grand Jury in regard to the usury law. gentlemen, after examining a large number of witnesses and accumulating a mass of testimony, and discovering that no one of the borrowers at usurious rates could be induced to make himself obnoxious by giving names or preferring a charge of usury under the law, have arrived at the sensible conclusion that the only way to fulfil the intent for which the usury law was enacted is to repeal the law itself. They have accordingly deputed three of their body, who went to Albany yesterday to urge the Legislature either to repeal the usury statute, or else to exempt this city from its penalties, so that it shall no longer enhance the rates for money, drive capital from New York, oppress borrowers and injure trade. This unexpected result of the labors of the Grand Jury has given a wholesome stimulus to the loan market in various ways. It has put an end to the fear that the lenders would be prosecuted or indicted. This fear bas extensively prevailed, and has deterred timid people from lending during the past week, thus foreing them to keep their capital idle and increasing the scarcity of loanabla funds in the market. How good the prospect may be of success in the mission to Albany is doubted by some persons who profess to be well informed. The time is past this season, however, in which the usury laws cause the chief trouble and are most conspicuously mischievous. If they are not repealed by this Legislature they can scarcely survive another winter.

But there are other causes to which the returning ease of money has been ascribed. One of these is the oft-repeated story again revived of new Treasury issues of greenbacks. There are a few men in Wall street who are still in that rudimentary stage of financial knowledge in which a tight loan market is supposed to admit of no remedy but eurrency inflition. By a confusion of thought which arises from the ambiguous use of the word "meney," they suppose that if we would make "money pleuty," we must issue plenty of it in the form of new greenbacks.

But we are asked, is it not true that the business of the country requires 40 or 50 millions less of currency in the Summer, when business is dull, than in the active months of the Fall and Winter. Undoubtedly this is true. But it does not prove that we are to issue 50 millions of new eur rency every Autumn. These extra 50 millions required for the Fall business are all outstanding now. What is wanted is to give elasticity to the volume of the currency, so that it shall contract 'spontaneously in the Summer, and shall in like manner expand of its own accord, and without government interference, when the Autamn business demands it, or when it is wanted for any other active movement.

To confer this elasticity upon our currency system was the great object of the National banks. For it these in stitutions were endowed with the privilege of issuing currency. It was supposed and intended that the National bank notes must go home for redemption whenever they were not wanted for legitimate business. This was the case with the old State bank notes, and the promoters of the National banking law of 1863 could not see why the same sort of return movement would not establish itself with the new notes of the National banks. And this anticipation would doubtless have been fulfilled, but for two obstacles.

One of these impediments was that the National bank notes were made a legal tender in certain cases. This gave the issuing banks the power to float their notes, and keep them out with ease all the year round. Secondly, these bank notes were further sustained, and were the more easily kept affoat, from the circumstance that wherever the issuing bank fails, the government pays its notes out of the proceeds of the deposited bonds at Washington. Hence it is impossible for the holder of a broken-bank note to lose anything by it, and the people hold bank notes just as they hold greenbacks. The former enjoy a forced circulation just as do the latter. Bank notes seldom return to the issuer, and if they should do so, it is easy to put them out again, and to keep them out.

But has not this worked well? we are asked. The effects of the arrangement for supporting the credit of bank notes and preventing the terrific losses from currency panics have undoubtedly been very beneficial. Still this is not the point now under discussion. We might have given equal security to the notes, and still refuse to make them a legal tender. We might also have compelled the banks to redeem their notes in New York. By these two expedients—the repealing of the legal tender clause, and the enforcing of metropolitan redemption-much might even now be done to impart elasticity to our currency, and thus to remove one of the most fruitful sources of the Autumn stringency. Among the preventable eauses of the constantly recurring trouble in the Autumn money market this rigid inelasticity of the currency which might be so easily corrected is not perhaps the worst of all; but it is certainly at times productive of the most widespread evil.

THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD AND THE MONEY MARKET.

The "bear" party in Wall street have not been so engrossed by the money stringency and by the late break in the stock market that they have had no time for other observations. One of these, in regard to which they are making an adroit use of the press, is the position of the Pennsylvania Railroad. At the meeting of this company on the 11th of March it was announced that they intend for certain purposes to issue bonds and stock for about 22 millions of dollars. "This is a large sum," say the bears. 'The company is getting over-extended. The money cannot be had, and ought not to be asked."

To explore the foundation on which this opinion is based, we have to look in two directions and to pursue two distinct We must learn what is the relation of the Pennsylvania Railroad to the money market, and secondly what is its relation to the general railroad system and railroad business of the country. The former of these topics is just now the most important, and to it we shall chiefly limit ourselves in this article: The amount the Pennsylvania company wants being as we said 22 millions, the question is whether the relation of that road to the money market justi fies the expectation that the funds will be forthcoming.

And first of all we must remember that this sum is almost one-tenth of the whole aggregate that we expect in this country to spend during the year in railroad building.

the Railway Monitur, which supposes that 80 millions of the whole will be probably raised abroad, while 160 millions will have to be obtained here. By an elaborate computation that journal establishes the important fact that our railroad system is self-sustaining in this respect, that its net earnings will pour this year into the reservoir of the loan market a total about equal to all that we shall have to draw from that reservoir for our new roads. The Monitor traces the increase of these railroad earnings, and sums up the evidence on the point as follows:

"In 1851 the gross earnings of the 13,000 miles of road in operation were $39,466,358, giving a net result of about 13 millions. In 1861 the earnings were about 130 millions, giving net 43 millions. In 1871, 455 millions, giving net 150 millions; in 1872 about 162 millions net, and in 1873 they are estimated at 175 millions net. Hence it appears that the net exceipes of conveil model. about 162 millions net, and in 1873 they are estimated at 170 millions net. Hence it appears that the net earnings of our railreads, if devoted to the work of railread making, would have built as follows, at $30,000 a mile: In 1851, 433 miles; in 1861, 1,428 miles; in 1871, 5,000 miles; and in 1872, 5,400 miles. Every year there is an increase, and it is at any rate a satisfaction to us to know that the net earnings of our railroad system add enough wealth to the resources of the country to enable us to build 5,000 miles of road a year.

"Our railroad system is 70,000 miles long, and the earnings are only 65 millions less than we propose to spend this year in extending our railroad network to 78,000 miles. If this estimate be tending our railroad network to 78,000 miles. If this estimate be true, it appears that our railroad system is self-sustaining, and its earnings amount to a sum which, after paying all expenses, yields enough money to construct all our new railroads, if outside capital will aid to the extent of 37 per cent. If foreign capital refuses in part this aid, then surely the other industries of the country can make up what is lacking, for they all share the benefits of the railroad system and all may reasonably aid its growth. But what of these industries? How much do they add of net annual wealth to the accumulated riches of the country? A dozen years ago, before the war, this increase was estimated at A dozen years ago, before the war, this increase was estimated at 1,0000 millions a year. It cannot be less now. Perhaps it is much more. Out of so large a mass of new wealth we can surely spend any sum we need for railroads without unduly impoverishing the country."

Out of this aggregate of capital which is to be spent this year on our network of railroads, one-tenth, as we have said, is asked for the Pennsylvania road. But this is not the whole case. What do the company wish to do with the money? By reference to their report it appears that the floating debt and miscellaneous liabilities of the road are about $15,330,197. The monetary stringency of the last seven months helps to account for their large aggregate of floating debt. It seems to have been deemed a better policy to raise the money on short obligations, and to wait till the Summer months before funding this miscellane us mass of paper into a permanent form. To absorb all such floating securities is one of the chief objects for which the stock is to be increased by 331 per cent. These new shares if sold at par will produce about 18 millions, leaving a surplus of 3 millions after paying off the floating debt which has been accumulating during the last three or four years having increased from 31 millions in 1868 to 11 millions in 1871, and 15 millions at present. Such short obligations of railroads have often been mentioned as a disturbing element n the loan market, and it would be a relief to the monetary machinery of the country if other companies would make an effort, as the Pennsylvania railroad is now doing, to convert these short obligations into stocks and long bonds.

These proposed new issues being thus for the most part a mere change in the form of security—a conversion of short obligations into long ones—it is plain that they will not make a demand for new capital to the extent that has been supposed. Hence they will not create so much new pressure on the loan market, but will have a tendency to relieve that pressure which now exists; and they will do it by absorbing and taking out of the way a mass of short obligations which for well known reasons cause more embarrassment in the money market than long bonds and other securities of a more permanent nature.

One of the conclusions our readers will deduce from That aggregate is computed at 240 millions of dollars by these facts is, that if the Pennsylvania Railroad can give a good showing of its business, it may be able to command all the monetary aid it seems likely now to require. This brings up the inquiry as to the present and prospective prosperity of the company, which we believe to be good. But, as was said above, we waive this topic with others concerning the general relations of the company to the railroad system and railroad business of the country, and we reserve them for future discussion.

It will suffice in this place to give the following general view of the growth of the capital and earnings of the company for the past twelve years. The earnings, according to the report before us, reached last year an aggregate of $8,247,852, and thus exceeded the sum required "to pay all the operating expenses, interest on bonds, dividends on stock, and all other expenses." These surplus net profits, as the report goes on to say, "were sufficient to have paid a dividend of ten per cent on an additional capital stock of nearly $24,000,000," or two millions more than the proposed new issue of stock and bonds. The following is the comparative statement of earnings and capital to which we have referred:

CAPITAL AND EARNINGS OF THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD COMPANY FOR TWELVE YEARS-1851 TO 1872.

EXEMPTION FROM TAXATION AND THE SUPREME COURT.

One of the questions which have been raised as to the new fives just negotiated by the Syndicate was in regard to the exemption of these bonds from taxation. On no other securities that the United States have ever issued has the power to tax the holders of the bonds for Federal purposes been formally renounced. The exemption clause was warmly opposed when the funding law of 1870 was passed. But the opposition was futile, and the statute enacted that all these bonds and the interest thereon "shall be exempt from the payment of all taxes or duties of the United States as well as from taxation in any form by State. municipal or local authority." The chief objections to this exemption were first, that such concessions are regarded as bad policy, and are never made by Governments in good credit, so that they do not help the sale of bonds abroad, while they are of little use in sustaining quotations at home. This objection has been fully verified by the slow sale of the bonds; which have been, without exception, more dilatory in getting themselves absorbed than any bonds offered by our Treasury since the war. Besides this objection, which was founded on fact, there was another founded on legal and constitutional grounds. It was argued that no legislature has the power to grant perpetual immunity from taxation-that the XLIIId Congress, for example, cannot bind the XLIVth Congress. The right to exact taxes for the support of the Government, and as an equivalent for the protection it gives to the taxpayer, has always been recognized among the highest picrogatives of a sovereign State. As its exercise is a political necessity, without which government must cease to exist, the argument is that no legislature whatever can exempt any individuals, or any sort of property from equal taxation with other individuals and similar property. Such exemption, if made, is temporary, and may be set aside in case of need, by the same legislature, or by a subsequent legislature in any case whatspever. To decide otherwise would be as was argued to compass the death of the Government, or at least to paralyze its fiscal life.

This disputed point has just been settled by the Supreme Court of the United States in the case of Humphrey et al. vs. Peagues, on an appeal from the U.S. Circuit Court for the District of South Carolina. That State in 1851 chartered the North-astern Ruilroad Company. Four years later, on the 19th December, 1855, the Legislature passed another act extending this charter and conferring several new privileges, one of which was to the effect that "the stock of the Northeastern Railroad Company and the real estate it now owns or may hereafter acquire which is connected or subservient to the works authorized in the charter of the said company shall be and the same is hereby exempted from taxation during the continuance [till 1901] of the present charter of the said company."

After the granting of this exemption the road was built, and was in 1863 consolidated with another road, the The point now raised was Cheraw & Darlington. whether the exemption granted by the Legislature in 1855 was a privilege which could be rightfully claimed by the Cheraw & Darlington Company as the representative of the original grantec. This question divides itself into two. There is first the inquiry whether the act of consolidating the roads in 1863 was so performed as to convey to the Northeastern Company the privileges conferred not only by the original charter of 1851, which was not disputed, but also those later privileges, exemption included, which were given in the supplementary act of 1855. This question being decided in the affirmative, the way was cleared for the court to pass upon the second point which we are now more specially examining. This question was whether any legislature in such cases could grant perpetual freedom from fiscal burdens. And the Court decided it in the affirmative on principles which have been more elaborately argued in former cases. These were referred to by Mr. Justice Hunt in pronouncing this decision. He said:

Another question is raised, to wit: That a legislature does not possess the power to grant to a corporation a perpetual immunity from taxation. It is said that the power of taxation is among the highest powers of a sovereign State; that its exercise is a political necessity, without which the State must cease to exist, and that it is not competent for one legislature, by binding its successors, to compass the death of the State. It is too late to raise this question in this court. It has been held that the Legislature has the power to bind the State in relinquishing its power to tax a corporation.—(Jefferson Bk. vs. Kelly, I Black R., 436.) It has been held that such a provision in the charter of an incorporation constitutes a contract which the State may not subsequently impair.—(Providence Bk. vs. Billings, 4 Peters' R., 514; Dartmouth College vs. Woodward, 4 Wheat, 378; The Binghampton Bridge, 3 Wall. R., 51.) These doctrines have been reiterated and reaffirmed so recently as the year 1871, in an opinion delivered by Mr. Justice Davis, in the case of the Wilmington Railroad vs. Reed, 13 Wallace, 264. They must be considered as settled in this court.

This decision settles the controversy which has been agitated as to the power of Congress to grant perpetual exemption from taxation to the bonds authorized by the act of 1870, or to any other bonds or property on which such exemption may be enacted. How far the principles here established are safe in a popular government or consistent with a democratic polity, and how far such privileges of tax exemption conceded to corporations may be granted to individuals, suggest fiscal questions of grave interest and fundamental importance, especially when it is remembered that in the famous decision pronounced by Chief-Justice Marshall in Me-Culloch vs. the State of Maryland, the principle is laid down, which has never yet been overruled, that the Federa I Government can not only give up its own right of taxation on persons and property, but can in certain cases grant exemption from State and municipal taxation also,

WHAT CAUSED THE WRECK OF THE STEAMSHIP ATLANTIC?

Notwithstanding the thorough investigation which has been made at Halifax for the true cause of the wreek of the iron steamship Atlantic, the subject is yet shrouded in mys tery. At first the popular impulse was to attribute the wreek to the carelessness and incapacity of her commander Captain Williams. He attempted to enter a port which he had never visited; every steamship commander ought to know the way to Halifax; as he had never been there, he did not know the way; hence he was careless; hence he was incapable of commanding the ship; hence the wreck!

It appears to us that we do not overstate the matter when we say that such is a fair sample of the earlier public reasoning on this subject. Possibly we may have reached this conclusion the easier because it was an English ship and an English captain which were involved. The American steamers Bienville, America, Missouri and Erie have been burned at sea recently, with loss of life, and "nobody to blame" for it; yet for the destruction of this English ship on an English coast the popular impetuous sentiment must have, and therefore it found, a scapegoat.

But we believe the investigation has convinced the more thoughtful that so far as Captain Williams is concerned it was an unjust conclusion; that he was well qualified for his profession as a shipmaster; that he made a faithful use of the same means which other shipmasters use in navigating a ship, and that he did, in general, the same things that other shipmasters do who rely upon those truths of mathematics which are applied to the science of navigation; and that therefore we must look elsewhere for the cause of this disaster.

At noon on the 31st of March, by an observation on a clear horizon, and by chronometer, Captain Williams found the ship to be in longitude 63° 54′, and latitude 41° 39′. An observation taken at the same moment by Mr. Firth, the first officer of the ship placed here in longitude 63° 55′, and latitude 41° 39′, differing from the captain's calculation only one mile in longitude—3 difference not unusual between simultaneous observations of the sun at sea. Similar observations were also taken by the second and third officers of the ship, and by these observations and calculations the position of the ship was, at that time, 460 miles distant from Sandy Hook.

One hour after this position was fixed, the ship was put about for Halifax; she was turned off at right angles from the course on which she was running and was headed toward Sambro Island Light, at the entrance of Halifax Harbor, which bore north, five degrees east, distant, by reckoning based on the noon observations, one hundred and seventy miles. Her course was then laid to a point not less than six miles east of Sambro, the captain intending to stop the ship as soon as he made the Light, and wait for morning before attempting to enter Halifax Harbor.

At midnight, by a careful dead reckoning, the ship had made 122 miles on her northerly course. She was then supposed to be forty-eight miles south of Sambro, which, by these calculations, bore north, five degrees east as before. The ship was steering north, twenty degrees east, with seven degrees easterly variation, to allow for set of the current. The captain retired to the chart-room at twenty minutes past midnight to rest, leaving orders to be called at three o'clock, at which time he expected to have Sambro Light, twelve or fifteen miles distant, on his port bow.

The fourth officer, who, with the second officer (lost), had the morning watch, looked carefully for the light from the port side of the bridge at half-past two o'clock, but saw no light anywhere. The look-out on the forecastle, who took his station at two o'clock and could see on both sides, of the ship, kept a sharp look-out for a light, but saw nothing until he saw the breakers. No coast lights were seen by any of the fifteen men who were on deck through the morning watch.

At fifteen minutes past three o'clock the ship struck on the rocks about six miles west, and not in sight, of Sambro. She went on broadside, keeled over to port, and sank in the breakers. The point where she struck was not quite as far from her position at one o'clock of March 31, as was the point to which she was bound.

Thus it appears that while the ship was running on a straight line by compass to a point 170 miles distant, she was bodily deflected from this line on an acute angle which subtended a base about twelve miles long. And the question is, how did this happen? What was the invisible power which drew the ship away from her direct course and landed her twelve miles or more west of the point of her destination?

In the first place, it must be admitted that if there is any truth in those elements of trigonometry, by which the relative position of points on the earth's surface is ascertained, the position of this ship at sea was correctly known to her navigators at noon of March 31. It must also be admitted that the deflection of the ship from her straight course was gradual, and not audden; otherwise it would have been apparent to her navigators. Again, the shape of the ship's hull could not have caused her to steer wild of her course. Her dimensions are given as 425 feet long, by 41 leet broad—a proportion of length to breadth which is nearly the same as that of all superior English steamships, namely, ten to one. And besides, she had a rapid and incessant motive power at work in her, sullicient to overcome any tendency to sag off from her course in an open sea, and a light wind which was southerly until eight o'clock, and through the rest of the night was westerly. Nor can it be supposed that the ship was carelessly steered by the quartermasters, who were under the same sea discipline and supervision which prevails on all English steamships.

To solve this mystery, public opinion turns to the local currents which exist along the cosst of Nova Scotia. In regard to these currents, the testimony taken during the investigation at Halifax is clear and important. Captain Mulligan, of the steamer "Carlotta" which runs between Portland and Halitax, made Sambro Light, on Monday night, March 31st, bound in. He said:

"I am familiar with the Nova Scolia coast from Cape Sable to Halifax; I made Sambro Light on Monday night, March 31, about 10:25 o'clock Halifax time; I judged that Sambro light bore N. E. by E. distant between three and four miles. When I made Sambro light I was not sounding; cannot say anything about the currents, they are irregular and uncertain; cannot say how they will set for twenty-four hours at a time; the currents are greater in Winter than in Summer, and are much governed by the winds; we appear to have a stronger westerly current in Winter than in Summer; there was a better chance of seeing the light when coming in from sea than when running along parallel to the coast; did not make Cross Island light: it being thick when passing; had no more difficulty in making the light that night than at other times. At 10 o'clock that night I instructed the engineer to slacken speed, but while in the act of doing so I got hold of the tight. Sambro light is a treacherous one to be depended on as to distance."

Captain Coffin, who was for twenty-five years pilot of the Cunard steamers between Halifax and Boston, both ways, up to 1868, said:

"I became very familiar with the Nova Scotia coast and its lights, as much as any man could be, probably; Sambro light is the same now as it was when I used to sail as pilot; we used to make Sambro light at a distance of sixteen to eighteen miles when approaching from the westward; when nearing the light, at times, it is far plainer at twelve miles distance than that at six at other times; I never had any difficulty in seeing Sambro light when I could make out the horizon; if the light was not visible at any time we did not continue our course; the horizon is sometimes deceptive; on one occasion I ran for Sambro light, intending to pass within three miles of it; the herizon appeared well defined, but it proved to be obscured by a dense fog that had settled upon it; saw nothing of the light until we saw the island on which the lighthouse stands square on the beam, and then when I saw the land I could not see the light owing to the fog settling down until it had obscured the light; on another occasion, in June, I found a very stiff current setting me in toward Margaret's Bay; I never met these currents outside of three miles from the shore: sometimes southerly wind setting on shore, I have found a strong with a southerly wind setting on shore, I have found a strong northerly current setting off shore: from seven to eight easterly direction in steering would be enough to allow for the set of current; I used to allow this in steering a vessel after shaping her course about 160 miles to the southward of Halifax; the currents do not vary so much with the seasons of the year as they do with the winds; they are sometimes very strong in May and June; on the accasions referred to above the horizon was thick, the fog low, and the stars visible."

In addition to these opinions we find in a New Brunswick paper a statement made by Captain Smith, of the Nova Scotian coasting steamer "M. A. Starr," who says:

"There are three currents with a westerly course between Sambro and Cross Island lights; they are not strong enough to have carried the Atlantic forty-eight miles in a little over three hours, even though she was steaming fast; estimating her speed at twelve knots, the current would have to increase it four knots an hour to make the forty-eight miles, whereas the greatest strength of the current would not add more than a knot or a knot and a quarter per hour to the speed."

It appears from this evidence that various currents run along the coast of Nova Scotia below Sambro; that none of them exist beyond three miles from the shore; that they are not swift; and that, to a steamer coming up from the south, as the "Atlantic" was, an allowance of from seven to eight degrees easterly steering "would be enough to allow for the set of the current." This was exactly the allow. ance which the "Atlantic" made in her course northward. It is plain, therefore, that the coast currents did not draw the "Atlantic" from her true course. If they do not exist beyond three miles of the coast, she could not have felt them until a few minutes before she struck the rocks.

There is one cause, however, to which the wreck of the "Atlantic" can be attributed; and although until it has been fully discussed we may not claim it to be the true one, yet if adopted it certainly clears up every difficulty which has yet been raised in connection with this fearful calamity. We are surprised that it has not been suggested by those who are seeking for the truth in Halifax, and we suggest it now, hoping that it may so attract the attention of some who are interested in this subject as to lead to a most thorough investigation of the matter.

Remember, then, that this ship was wholly of iron—her hull, masts and spirs were iron. She was half full of iron machinery. Further, it is to be borne in mind that she had crossed the Atlantic ocean nineteen times, between Liverpool and New York (having never made any other voyage), sailing always from east to west and west to east, upon the aame curve. Her magnetic properties had adjusted themselves to her east and west conditions, and her compasses were true while she sailed on this regular east and west curve. When, on the 31st of March, she came near the land and turned her head north, at right angles to this east and west course, is it not reasonable to say that her compasses were immediately deranged by that new movement? It may be seen on the chart that a westerly error of one quarter of a point in her compass from her starting for the north would take her directly to the rocks on which she struck! Such at all events is our interpretation of the facts which have come out on this investigation.

A very important circumstance bearing upon the question is the undoubted fact-proved from the position in which the ship was wrecked and the speed at which she was going-that she could not have been forty-eight miles south of Samhro Light at midnight of March 31. She must at that time have been eight or ten miles nearer to the land than the dead reckoning showed, and on another course, in hours after midnight. This is fully explained if we admit that she had been running during the hours previous to midnight on a course west of that indicated by her compasses, and one which led directly to the rocks on which she struck.

It is well known that the magnetic influences of an iron ship upon her compass needle is varied by local circumstances, and it is not possible to detect the exact error while at sea. When the ship is in port, these influences are corrected by magnetic bars, placed near the compass, to overcome and counteract the attractive forces of the ship. But at sea the eircumstances are changed. Influences arise from the heating of the ship, from the electric currents of the air, and from other-sources, which appear to be yet unknown, which draw the needle point from its true meridian. Hence an iron ship that has always sailed east and west, must have her compasses readjusted to sail north and south. During the past twenty years, many iron steamships, sailed by experienced navigators, have been wrecked on the coast of Nova Scotia, and the immediate cause of their wreck was as mysterious as the cause of the wreck of the steamship Atlantic.

This question is of interest, not alone and not mainly because solving the problem as to the present disaster; but has a higher and more important bearing upon the future, and demands, therefore, the fullest investigation.

CURRENT TOPICS.

THE CASE OF PHELPS, DODGE & Co.—Since the case of Messrs. Phelps, Dodge & Co. has been fully settled with the government the firm has very properly published a letter giving to the public a history of the whole transaction, and vindicating their own repntation. The amount of money involved was of small importance compared with the question of the honor and high standing of one of the oldest and most highly respected mercantile houses in this city. We believe that to every candid reader the letter of Messrs. Phelps, Dodge & Co. will carry the conviction not only that they had no intention of defrauding the Government, but that their whole transactions with the Custom House, involving the entry of some $40,000,000 of goods in five years past, have been singularly free from frauds or evasions of the law. The substantial facts are as follows:

That the Liverpoot agent of Messrs. Phelps, Dodge & Co., in the effort to meet the almost unfathomable intricasies of our tariff law, was accustomed to state the value of small and unimportant parts of invoices, sometimes a little below and sometimes a little above what they should have been, the exact truth, as investigation subsequently showed, being, that the changes in question on the side of over-valuation and in favor of the Government, were very largely in excess of those in the direction of undervaluation.

A clerk discharged by Messrs. P. D. & Co. for being suspected of assistance in the infamous theft of their private papers some time since, informed the Government that they had committed frauds. On request the firm voluntarily surrendered all their books and papers to the officials, and after a full investigation it appears that out of all the firm's entries for five years past, amounting to over $40,000,000, on which they had actually paid $8,000,000 in duties, the Government officers selected 52 invoices, on which they claimed that errors had been made. The total value of the wholo of these invoices was $1,000,000; the whole value of the goods in those several items where errors were claimed was $271,017.23; the total loss to the government from non-payment of proper duties was $2,000 to $4,000. The government admitted that there was no intention to defraud, but claimed that they could technically demand the whole $1,000,000, and finally compromised on the payment of the $271,017.23.

Thus it appears that under our tariff laws, and the decisions thereon by the Treasury, one of the first houses in our city has accidentally, through errors of their foreign agent, undervalued goods so that the Government lost $2,000 to $4,000 in five years (though actually having lost nothing, as the errors of over valuation were more than those of under valuation), and that in consequence of this they have been mulcted in the sum of $271,017.23, order to have run ashore where she did, three and a quarter over $60,000 of which goes to the clerk who had previously been discharged for being suspected of assisting in a scandalous theft of their private correspondence. This was a firm which had actually paid $8,000,000 in enstoms during the five years named.

The conclusion formed from these facts must be decidedly adverse to the working of our present tariff laws.

If the firm had seen fit to resist the claim and brought it to trial we believe that no jury in the hand would have found against them. But they entered upon the investigation with the utmost confidence of their own innocence, and with the expectation of a speedy and amleable adjustment of the matter.

The following letter is from Hon. Noah Davis, late U. S. District Attorney, and now Judge of the Supreme Court of the State of New York:

i From our own correspondent.

London, Saturday, April 5, 1873.

The return of the Bank of England for the present week shows some important changes, and were it not for the fact that many of them are due to the payments incidental to the close of the quarter and of the financial year, an advance to 5 per cent would have been necessary. That a rise in the rate of money will take place at an early date seems very clear, as the demand is increasing, while there is at present no prospect of augmented supplies. Next week a considerable amount of public funds will be released by the payment of the dividends, but this is not expected to have more than a momentary effect, as borrowers have already anticipated a large proportion of the dividend money. The amount of other securities" is now unusually heavy, the total being as much as £28,810,000, which is greater than at any period since the panic of 1866. Compared with 1872, it shows an increase of £3,000,000; with 1871, of £6,000,000; with 1870, of £10,000,000 and with 1869, of £10,400,000. The bullion and reserve, however, compare favorably with former years; but taking into consideration the peculiar condition of the gold market, neither item can be looked upon as being at all in excess of what is necessary. The proportion of reserve to liabilities which during the present year has been as high as 48 per cent, is now 334 per cent, a point below which it is desirable that it should never fall.

The demand for money during the week has been strong, and the rates of discount have been very firm. The supply in the open market has continued small, but an increase is anticipated in the course of the coming week. There is no accommodation obtainable under the Bank rate. The following are the quotations:

On the Continent, the more prominent feature is an increase of stringency in the German markets, an almost general advance having taken place. In Paris, however, an easy tone has prevailed. The following are the quotations at the leading cities:

The stock markets have been rather dull. Consols, however, owing to the fact that £1,620,000 is available out of the revenue for the reduction of the National Debt, are firmer, and have advanced to 93‡@93‡ for the May account; but British railway shares are dull, and are lower in value, notwithstanding that the fine weather is calculated to augment the traffic and cheaper coal diminish the working expenses. In American railroad bonds the chief feature is an increase of depression in Illinois Central, which are again lower in price. Erie shares have been rather irregular, but have, on the whole, been tolerably firm; and Atlantic and Great Western descriptions, though somewhat weaker, are not altogether deficient in firmness. The market for American government securities has not varied to any important extent. The following were the closing prices of consols and the principal American securities this afternoou:

Gold continues in demand for export, and all arrivals have been absorbed, in addition to which £164,000 has been withdrawn from the Bank for Denmark and Sweden. A large supply of Australian gold is due in the course of a few days, a large proportion of which, being in sovereigns, will be sent into the Bank; but the bar gold will undonbtedly be purchased for export. The silver market has been dull, and the quotations are rather easier. The following prices of bullion are from the circular of Messrs. Pixley, Abell, Langley & Blake:

The decline in the New York exchange on London to 1074 has attracted considerable attention in this market, and has led some to anticipate an export of gold hence.

A threatened strike in the Yorkshire coal district has been averted by the arbitrator, who had been called in to settle the dispute, having decided that an advance of 71 per cent in the rate of wages would constitute a fair settlement. The South Staffordshire colliers were to abide by this decision; so it may now be hoped that disputes in the coal districts have temporarily ceased. The price of coal is falling, and with the return of Spring, aud of mild weather, a considerable reduction is anticipated. It is said that very large supplies of coal have been raised to the surface, and the probability is, that as many firms and private individuals have accustomed themselves to economise, some difficulty is likely to be experienced in marketing them, more especially as the Winter is now fairly passed. Besides which, the consumption in the manufacturing districts is smaller than for some time past, the high price of fuel current during the Winter months having not only checked materially, but also diminished the extent of our trade.

The Union Bank of London and Messrs. R. Raphael & Sons have announced an issue of £2,000,000 first mortgage sterling six per cent bonds of the New York Central and Hudson River Rail road Company. The price of issue is  $95\frac{1}{2}$ .

A prospectus has been issued of the Costa Rica Mining Company, with a capital of £250,000 in £10 shares.

We have had a week of very fine weather, and the agricultural prospect may be said to be encouraging. Vegetation makes no rapid strides, but so far there has been no check and no frosts calculated to do harm. The sowing of the later crops is being rapidly proceeded with, and the land, except in a few districts, is in a very favorable condition. The trade for wheat and othes grain has been dull and drooping; and, in some instances, pricer have receded 1s. per quarter. The best descriptions of English flour have been reduced 3s. per 280 lb.

The respective boards of the Atlantic Telegraph companies have at length agreed upon terms of amalgamation, and the proposal will be submitted at an early date for the sanction of the shareholders. The capital of the amalgamated undertakings will amount to £7,000,000, distributed as follows: To the French Atlantic Telegraph Company £3,450,000, to the Angle-American Company £2,550,000, and to the New York, Newfoundland and London Company £1,000,000. It will be noticed that the capital is £1,000,000 less than that of the proposed Consolidated Atlantic Telegraphs Company limited. The Newfoundland Company, however, are agitating for better terms.

The New Jersey General Railroad Law.—The followis unmary of the bill as finally passed is from an official copy: prescribes that any number of persons, not less than thirteen, can form a company for the purpose of building, operating and maintaining a railroad, or for the purpose of operating any unincorporated railroad already built. They shall make articles of association which must specify the places to or from which the road is to be built, the counties through which it is to pass, the names of the directors (to be thirteen in number a majority of whom of the directors (to be thirteen in number, a majority of whom must be residents of the State), the time the corporation is to continue, and the amount of the capital stock, which cannot be less than $10,000 per mile. Upon tendering these articles of association to the Secretary of State to be filed, the company association to the Secretary of State to be filed, the company shall become a legal corporation, with all the powers conferred upon corporations by the general law, and also power to take and hold the necessary lands, lay out and build the road, &c. The articles, however, shall not be filed until affidavit is made to the Secretary of State by five directors that $2,000 per mile of stock has been subscribed and 10 per cent paid in. No stock subscriptions shall be received unless 10 per cent of the amount is paid in at the time of subscribing. There shall be 13 directors, who shall appoint a President, Secretary, and other necessary officers, but every director shall be a bona fide stockholder.

Provision is made for forfeiting stock on which assessments remain unpaid after due notice. The capital stock may be increased at any time by a vote of two-thirds of the stockholders at a meeting called for the purpose, but only to the amount actually required for the construction and maintenance of the road. The company shall be liable for debts incurred by contractors for labor, but any amounts so recovered directly from the company are to be deducted from money due contractors.

Companies must maintain good road crossings and cattle-guards, and must make previsions for farm crossings where required. The streets of any incorporated city must be crossed above or below grade, unless the city council shall grant express permission to cross at grade. At all grade crossings signs must be erected.

The company shall have power to fix rates of fare and freight, but the passenger fares must not exceed three cents per mile (no single fare, however, need be less than ten cents), and the rates any description of freight between two way stations, or a way and a terminal station, must not be greater than those charged for the same class of freight between the terminal stations. Tho necessary land for stations, workshops, &c., may be taken, not exceeding ten acres at any one place.

No company can occupy the road or lands of another company without its consent, nor cross any other railroad at a less angle than 45 degrees.

Bonds may be issued to any amount not greater than that of the capital stock. Full anthority is given to consolidate with other roads in or out of the State, to lease the road to other companies, or to lease other roads.

A sworn statement shall be made on the first Menday in January of each year of the cost of the road and equipments to date, and a tax of oue-half of one per cent annually shall be paid on the cost of the road, and such other taxes as may be required by general law. The real estate of the company, except the road-bed, 100 leet wide, and its personal property shall also be liable to tax in the townships through which it passes.

No franchise heretofore granted, or hereafter to be granted to build or operate any railroad, bridge or ferry shall be held to be exclusive unless expressly so provided in the grant.

Companies organized under this act must commence their road within six months and complete it in two years from date of commencement, if less than 50 miles long. An additional six months is allowed for every admitional 20 miles. The road must be opened for business when 50 miles is completed.

Finally, in case of the repeal or alteration of this act, such repeal or alteration shall not affect any company organized under the act unless it shall be expressly so stated.

During the year we were subjected to most violent and nane During the year we were subjected to most violent and unnecessary competition for a large portion of our trade, compelling the reduction of rates thirty per cent, which seriously affected our net results. The developments on the new line of road, from which a large increase of business was anticipated, were delayed from causes beyond our control; but we are glad to say that under the arrangement for lease of the road, to which we shall presently refer, a different result may be looked for. In all other respects the extension to Williamsport has realized our expectations; the working thereof has proven the permanent character of the construction; the steel rails and four-bolt joints used have shown themselves, thus far, as capable of performing all that was anticipated. all that was anticipated.

On the 10th of October, 1872, a lease and contract was entered into between this company and the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad Company for nine hundred and ninety-nine years; they to take possession of the road on November 1, for terms and conditions of which see copy of lease appended to this report.

By authority of the Act of the Legislature of Pennsylvania, approved the thirtieth day of March, 1869, accepted by the stockholders at their last meeting and in pursuance of the authority to issue one million of preferred stock, entitled to receive divi-dends as follows: For the year commencing November 1, 1873, two and one-third per cent; for the year commencing Nov. 1, 1874, four and two-thirds per cent, and for the year commencing November 1, 1875, and thereafter seven per cent. By the terms of the lease an amount is guaranteed sufficient to pay this, as well as the regular seven per cent per annum dividends on the old preferred stock, and the interest and taxes on the several mortgage bonds of the company. According to the conditions thereof, with the ability on the part of our lessees to aid in the developments necessary for increase of trade, and the security thus afforded to parties interested as to the permanency of the facilities offered, we confidently expect such an increase of business in time as to make all our securities paying investments.

FRIDAY EVENING, April 18, 1873.

The Money Market.—The setual rates paid for money this week have been quite as high as those previously noticed, but during the past two days there has been a more hepeful tone in financial circles, based upon a confident feeling that we are now near the end of the long-continued monetary pressure.

The banks report very considerable receipts of currency from This is the price bid, no sale was made at the Board.

the interior, and although the full benefit of this movement is not yet felt in a reduction of rates, it is well known that a continuance of it must soon produce the desired effect of relieving the loan market.

There was on Wednesday a feeling of depression in consequence of the break in stocks and the failure of quite a prominent firm of stock brokers, following upon the failure of Messrs. Escher & Co., silk importers, previously announced; but a speedy recovery in tone soon took place, and to-day there was a more recovery in tone soon took place, and to-day there was a more generally cheerful feeling on the street than we have noticed for some time past. The excessive rates for money, so long maintained, have led to the suspension of three very respectable stock brokerage firms, and it is rather an evidence of strength that more firms have not been obliged to suspend. The rates paid for money ranged \(\frac{1}{4}, \frac{1}{3}, \frac{1}{6} \) recent a day on Monday; on Tuesday at \(\frac{1}{4}, \frac{1}{3}, \frac{1}{6} \) recent a day on Monday; on Tuesday at \(\frac{1}{3}, \frac{1}{3}, \frac{1}{6} \) recent a day on Monday; on Tuesday at \(\frac{1}{3}, \frac{1}{3}, \frac{1}{6} \) recent a day on Monday; on Tuesday at \(\frac{1}{3}, \frac{1}{3}, \frac{1}{6} \) in the morning, and up to \(\frac{1}{6} \) and after the break in stocks; Thursday at \(\frac{1}{3}, \frac{1}{6} \) in the morning, and down to 7 gold at the close: to day (Friday) the range was \(\frac{1}{3} \) to \(\frac{1}{3} \) in the morning, and in the afternoon 1-16, 1-32, 7 gold, and 7 currency. rency.

In commercial paper there is more business doing on the basis of 12 per cent for first class names; some very choice paper having been sold as low as 10 per cent, though this rate is quite exceptional.

The Grand Jury, which has been investigating the subject of violations of the Usury law, has apparently found an indictment against the law instead of its violators, and has appealed to the egislature for its abregation.

Legislature for its abregation.

Foreign advices report money tolerably firm, but quiet in London, the Bank laving lost £466,000 in bullion this week, but its discount rate remaining unchanged at 4 per cent. The Bank of France shows an increase in specie of 1,000,000 francs.

The last statement of our city banks (April 12) showed a decrease in the deficiency of reserves of $1,220,500 so as to leave a total deficiency of $2,025,300 below the 25 per cent required by law. The total liabilities were $214,613,600, and the reserves $51,628,100. In the psitonal banks the whole deficiency was $51,628,100. In the national banks the whole deficiency was $1,082,925.

United States Bonds.—Government bonds have been quite active from various causes. In the first part of the week the necessity of getting money induced the sale of a good many bonds, a part of which were probably borrowed for the purpose, or according to the common phrase, sold "short." During the past two days the demand to cover those sales, as well as the steady demand from foreign purchasers, has caused a sharp inquiry, and the market is almost bare of the popular coupen issues. Large estimates are made of the amount of bonds sent abroad since the first of January, and some well-informed parties place it at $20,000,000. There was no Treasury purchase this Railroad and Miscellaneous Stocks.—The stock market centinued variable and feverish until Wednesday, when the unsettled feeling culminated in a material break in prices and heavy sales of the leading speculative stocks. The immediate cause for this break was found in the failure of Messrs. Barton & Allen, a stock-brokerage firm of some prominence, to whose suspension an undue importance was attached for a time from the fact that its members are related to Commodore Vanderbilt. The real cause for the break in stocks, however, was the long-continued tight money market, and while three very respectable firms of stock brokers have suspended, it is only remarkable that many more and larger failures have not occurred. In the decline of prices and semi-panic which occurred as above noticed the lowest figures were generally reached on Wednesday, when New York Central & Hudson touched 97%, Rock Island 101½, Lake Shore 88½, Erie 64, Western Union Telegraph 78, Union Pacific 25, and Pacific Mail 53½. From these prices there was a recovery on Thursday, and a more decided advance to day, the list at times showing quite a buoyancy and closing strong at near the highest point of the day.

The following were the highest and lowest prices of the active list of railroad and miscellaneous stocks on each day of the last week:

The Gold Market.—The general tendency of gold, until today, was weaker, and from 1184, the closing price on Saturday, the 12th inst., a decline was made to 117 on Thursday. To-day a new firmness was developed, and the price advanced to 1184, under purchases reported to be for account of the bull party.

The cause for lower gold early in the week was generally attributed to the fact that some of the clique had sold, and that the payment of May interest by the Government, and the approaching payment of the Alabama claims by England, would largely increase the supply; the last-named influence, however, we hardly think will affect our gold market very soon.

The rates paid for carrying gold to-day were 7, 6, 4, 1.32 and 7

Thursday, the Treasury sold $1,500,000, the total bids amounting to $2,180,000.

Customs receipts of the week amount to $2,244,000.

The following table will show the course of the gold premium each day of the past week:

Foreign Exchange.—The exchange market has been unsettled and variable, and at times very much depressed. On Thursday the leading drawers reduced their rates to 107½ for 60 days, and 108½ for demand bills. Money became easier in the afternoon, the exchange market becoming firmer. This morning the leading drawers advanced their rates to 107½ far sixty days sterling, and 108½ for sight; but this advance checked the demaed. The highest rate at which long sterling actually sold was 107½, but sight sold close to the asking rate, transactions being reported at 108½ to 108½. It was reported to-day from London that £150,000 sterling in gold had been shipped to New York against some purchases of exchange at the extreme low rates of yesterday.

The influences chiefly depressing exchange have been the close money market, and the appearance of some borrowed bills and the return of a settled condition of financial affairs will be followed by a material rise in prices.

Alabama State Finances.-A dispatch from Montgomery. Ala., of April 12, says: The Senate passed, with an amendment, the House bill confirming the sale of the Alabania & Chattanooga Railroad to the New Orleans & Northeastern Railroad Company. The House passed, with amendment, the Senate bill recalling all endorsed railroad bonds, and authorizing the issue of thirty-year seven per cent gold interest-bearing straight bonds in lieu thereof, at the rate of one thousand straight for four thousand en dorsed bonds, and providing that in no event shall the obligations of the State on this account exceed eight millions. These amendments to both hills will be concurred in, much to the relief of the State, whose liabilities will thus be decreased from near thirty millions to eight, on account of railroads. The latter bill releases the State lien upon roads surrendering endorsed bonds, but levies an annual sinking fund tax on their gross earnings to pay the bonds at maturity.

EQUIPMENT.

The equipment of the road is as follows; 8f locomotives, 51 passenger conches, 30 baggage, mail and express cars, 359 box and stock cars, 609 llat cars, 17 caboose curs, 400 gondola cars, 96 gravel and ore cars, 196 four-wheel coal cars, 6 snow plows.

The company had hoped to have its road open through to New York by January 1, 1873. The grading is nearly all done, but it will take until the last of May or the middle of June to lay the track and do the necessary ballasting.

The following Board of Directors were elected: Dewitt C, Littlejohn, Cheney Ames, Oswego, N. Y.; Henry E. Bartlett, Walton, N. Y.; Delos E. Culver, Jersey City, N. J.; John R. Clarke, Oxford, N. Y.; William Foster, Cleveland, N. Y.; Henry R. Low, Middletown, N. Y.; J. W. Merchant; De Rnyter, N. Y.; Abram C, Hewitt, Josiah Macy, Jr., Albert T, Rand, Barthold Schlesinger, Henry Whelen, New York City, Messrs, Hewitt, Macy, Rand, Schlesinger and Whelen are new directors, replacting D, W. C. Stephens, E. T. Hayes, J. A. Randall, D. C. Edgerton and E. P. Wheeler.

New Haven, Middletown & Willimantic.-This company is New Haven, Middletown & Willimantic.—This company is now running freight trains from Middletown, Conn., cast seven miles to East Hampton, and from Willimantic west 10 miles to Turnerville. Only six miles of track, from East Hampton to Turnerville, remains to be laid to complete the road from New Haven to Willimantic. The laying of this six miles, which, it is said, will be completed very shortly, will complete the new line from New Haven to Boston over the New Haven, Middletown & Willimantic (better known as the Connecticut Air Line) and Boston, Hartford & Erie roads. The length of this line from New York to Boston will be 212 miles, as against 234 by the Springfield route, and 230 by the Shore Line. route, and 230 by the Shore Line.

Pennsylvania Railroad Company.—The Pittsburg Commercial says: "The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has already recommenced grading for the additional double tracks between this city and Philadelphia, and it is estimated that the enormons sum of $19,000,000 will be spent during the present year by the Company within the State. Of this amount $3,000,000 will be expended on the Pittsburg Division, extending from this city to Altoona, a distance of 117 miles. In the latter sum is included the cost of making the connection between the Pennsylvania Railroad and the Pittsburg, Virginia & Charleston Railway, by bridge across the Monongahela above the mouth of Turtle Creek."

New York, West Shore & Chieago Railroad.—The officers of this company announce that a reorganization of the Company will probably take place wichin two weeks. This company includes a combination of the New York & Fort Lee, the Hudson West Shore, and the 'Yest Shore Hudson Railroads, and when completed will be a competing line with the New York Central & Hudson River Railroads. The engineer, in his report of the proposed route and plan, divided the rend into three divisions—Eastern, Middle and Western. The Eastern Division, from Jersey City to Catskill, a distance of 110 miles, is on the west shore of the Hudson. The Middle Division, from Catskill to Syracuse, is 163 miles in length. At the former place the line and the river diverge, the route of the railway continuing in almost a direct line to the Mohawk at Schenectady, thence the route lies along the south side of the Valley of the Mohawk, and of the Eric Canal to Utica; and from this place it continues in nearly a direct westerly course to Syracuse. The Western Division extends from Syracuse to the International Bridge, at Buffalo, the distance being 147 miles. From Syracuse the line continues almost direct to Buffalo; the Eric Canal and the New York Central Railroad diverging considerably northward at Railroad diverging considerably northward at Railroad diverging considerably northward at Railroad diverging considerably northward at New York, West Shore & Chicago Railroad.—The officers of York Central Railrond diverging considerably northward at Rochester. The following is an estimate of the cost of construct-ing the road, on the route described, the estimate contemplating a double track railroad of four feet eight and a half inch gauge:

COMMERCIAL EPITOME.

FRIDAY NIGHT, April 18, 1873.

The principal navigable streams of the North and West have been cleared of ice, and all are in a condition to admit of the transportation of merchandise. The great lakes and the more northern canals have remained closed, however. In the meantime an important reduction has been made by the trunk railways in rates of freight for eastward bound merchandise. The reduction is from 20 to 30 per cent from late rates, and amounts to about 50 cents on a barrel of flour from towns in the far West. We subjoin the reduced rates from some of the leading points in the West to New York City:

Strained rosin advanced to $3 30@3 35, but lost this improvement, and closed at $3 25@3 27½. Spirits turpentine was also higher, but receded, and closed at 54½c. Tallow has remained steady at 8½@9c. for prime. Whiskey has been firm at 92c., but closed easier at 9½c. Foreign fruits have been more active; layer raisins $3 35, currants 6½c, and prunes 8c. The Cotton Exchange being closed on the Thursday previous to our last report, and not reopened till Monday, there was no market to report on those days. Monday opened at the prices of the previous Thursday for "spot" cotton, but there was very little doing, and the following three days quotations were reduced ic each day. Liverpool was reported dull, with a partial reduction of quotations; gold declined; there was a flurry on the Stock Exchange, caused by the failure of a prominent house, which was not without its effect on the Cotton Exchange; and receipts at the ports were on a liberal scale. All these adverse influences were without a single circumstance to counteract their effect The close, however, on Thursday was rather more steady; and to-day, with foreign advices more favorable, there was a fair business for export, but the quotations were not advanced. For future delivery there was a steady downward tendency till the close of business after 'Change on Wednesday, when the lowest prices of the week were reached. On Thursday there was more prices of the week were reached. On Inuraday there was more steadlness, with a slight recovery. The business for the next crop has been small, but at unchanged rates. To-day prices recovered 3-16@\frac{2}{3}c, but closed without buoyancy. The business was mainly for June, and this month showed the greatest advance. The prices for futures last reported were (basis low middling) 18\frac{2}{3}c. for April, 19\frac{1}{3}c. for May, 19 5-16c. for June, 19 5-16c. for July, 19\frac{1}{3}c for August, and 17\frac{1}{3} for October. WEATHER REPORTS BY TELEGRAPH.—Our telegrams to-night all complain of the cold weather. Where, however, the ground is sufficiently moist to start the seed, and it is not cold enough to sumiciently moist to start the seed, and it is not cold enough to cut down the young plant, if above ground, we are inclined to believe a low temperature a benefit, as it gives the root time to develop before the top begins to grow. It will be seen, however, that in several cases dry weather as well as cold is complained of that in several cases dry weather as well as cold is complained of. There have been two rainy days at New Orleans in the earlier part of the week, the latter part of the week being clear and pleasant, but cool. It has also rained two days at Mobile; the weather is stated to be too cool; there has been a frost which will make replanting in some districts necessary. At Selma they are in need of rain; they have had some during the week, but not enough to do much good; there has been a light frost, which has done no harm. Cold and dry weather is also reported at Montgomery, though it is stated that no injury has been done by it. At Columbus, Macon and Savannah it has rained on one day; two light frosts without serious damage are reported at Columbus, and too cool weather at Macon and Savannah. There has been no rain all the week at Charleston, but cold, dry winds. At Augusta they have had cold weather and two stormy days. At Memphis it has rained on one day, with a frost, not a killing frost; increased land is being put down to cotton, and planting is making good progress. It has also rained one day at Nashville, and the weather is said to be too cold. At Memphis the thermometer has averaged 54, Macon 60, Columbue and Montgomery 61, and Selma 66.

Spinners' Takings and the Overland Movement—We

SPINNERS' TAKINGS AND THE OVERLAND MOVEMENT-SPINNERS' TAKINGS AND THE OVERLAND MOVEMENT—We have been asked to state the amount which has been taken by spinners up to this time, and therefore give the following, which does not include the telegraph figures of to-night. The overland, direct to the mills, we put at 43,000 bales more than last year, because up to the present time the movement, by rail, to New York, Boston, Baltimore and Philadelphis, is that amount short of last year. The stock held by spinners we leave the same at the heginning of the year.

Total takings by Northern mills up to April 11, 1872.... 872,685 Total required for the year by the Northern mills.....1.100,000

Total balance required from the ports up to Sept, 1, bales 227,315

The above presupposes that the whole amount to be received. to Sept. 1, by the mills, overland direct, has already been delivered to them, which is of course, not the case. Furthermore it is to them, which is of course, not the case. Furthermore it is made, and our ststement of last week was made on the supposition that the overland movement will precisely equal last year's figures, This may or may not be so. We have received letters giving reasons why, in this particular, our conclusion is incorrect, one claiming it to be too large, and another too small. It would be unwise for ns to enter into this discussion, as we have no returns by which to determine the question. We therefore leave the statement as above, and each one can make such difference in that total as he thinks best.

BOMBAY SHIPMENTS.—According to our cable dispatch received o-cay, there have been 31,000 bales shipped from Bombay to Great Britain the past week and 9,000 bales to the continent, while the receipts at Bombay, during the same time have been 47,000 bales. The movement since the first of January is as follows. These are the figures of W. Nicol & Co., of Bombay, and are brought down to Thursday, April 17:

GUNNY BAGS, BAGGING, &C.—The market for bagging has ruled quiet, and no large transactions have been made. The only sales reported are the filling of small orders. The quoted price here is 18c cash, but 12½c cash might effect a purchase in Boston. The asking price for future deliveries is 14½@15c. In bags we have no transactions to report, the price being 15@15½c according to weights. The transactions in butts have been limited during the past week. Small lots of 100 to 200 bales have been sold, aggregating perhaps to about 750 to 1,000 bales at 2c.cash, and 2½@2 3-16c time.

BREADSTUFFS.

FRIDAY P. M., April 18, 1873.

Flour has had a downward tendency during the past week. The receipts have materially increased, and there has been such a reduction of rail freights from the West as to render it probable that there will soon be a still further increase in our supplies. The weather has been bad part of the time, materially checking the demand, while the closeness of the money market and other attendant influences have conspired to incresse the anxiety of holders to close out promptly from the wharf on arrival. The decline in prices has been about 25c. per bbl. This decline has slightly stimulated business in common extras, and shippers have taken Western brands of this grade at $6 75@6 90 per bbl., with prime extra State as high as $7 30, part for future delivery. To-day the market was dull, depressed and unsettled.

The market has also been depressed for Spring wheat, and prices show some decline. Receipts have been more liberal by rail, and they have been put on the market for the best prices they would bring. Late sales include No. 2 Chicago, received by rail, at $1561@157, and No. 2 Milwaukce $1601@163, the latter price for a boat-load for export. Winter red and amber wheats have remained very quiet. But in white wheats the demand has been more active; a line of 21,000 bush. No. 2 white Toledo, in store, was closed out at $2, and choice white Genesee and Michigan have sold in considerable parcels, at $2 15@$2 25. Receipts at the West have fallen off, and appearances are that stocks of this crop will not further increase. To day the market was quiet, but No. 2 Milwaukee sold moderately, at $1 62@$1 63 afloat.

Indian corn has met with a brisk export demand, and prices have improved fully one cent per hashel, with large sales of late at 631@64c for prime old mixed in store, and 661@661c affoat. New corn has been in light supply and firmer. To-day the market was excited, prime old mixed Western, in store, sold at 641@ 64½c, with rumors of business at 65c; also, prime mixed for June at 64c, an advance of 2c over previous sales; also, at 66c on the spot, afloat.

Rye has remained dull. Barley has been dull and depressed; car loads have sold at $1 for No. 3 Western, and $1 20@1 25 for fair to good Canada West, and the market closes unsettled. The stock of Barley is much smaller than last year, but the end of the malting season approaches, and the market for malt is quite dull and heavy.

Oats have been firm, but rather slow of sale. There has been some figuring on largo lots, and a sale of 50,000 bushels new mixed, to arrive in May, has been reported, but at a private price. There has also been some effort to concentrate the stock in store. The demand from the trade has been fair and the receipts by rail small. To-day, the market was quiet and quotations nominal.

GROCERIES.

FRIDAY EVENING, April 18, 1873.

The general tone of the market during the past week has been rather more favorable for buyers than sellers. Prices have settled somewhat both on raw and refined sugars, and Rio coffees are also off a fraction from our last quotations. Tea remains nominal, and holders are forced to yield a fraction to effect sales. Molasses is steady at slightly lower quotations. Foreign fruits are strong with limited transactions. Spices show no alteration. Collections are slow, and buyers are forced to restrict their purchases to the smallest possible amounts.

TEA.

Sales continue to be restricted to the running wants of the retail trade, and are effected only in small lines. The aggregate distribution effects only a very slight reduction of stock, and affords very little relief to importers in view of the heavy ehipments in transit. The condition of the money market here remains very unfavorable, and with but a slight abatement in the gold premium there is no possibility of importers making material concessions unless they are forced to realize on their stock at any cost. Oolong teas remain fiat, and cannot be quoted with any degree of reliability as yet. The small sales of lines and invoices have been made at about previous rates, and quotations remain nominally unaltered. Greens are celling to a limited extent at about previous rates, and although in a rather more favorable position than the other descriptions still fail to show any hardening tendencies. Japane are totally unchanged, with prices nominally quoted as before. The eales since our last have been 6,300 half chests Green, 7,000 do. Japan, 1,000 do. Souchoug, and 1,500 do. Oolong.

Imports at this port the past week have included 850,354 lbs. Blsck, per "Whinfell," from Foo Chow. The indirect importations have included 9,072 pkgs, by ateamer and 994 by rail overland.
The following table shows the imports of Tea into the United States from Jsuuary 1 to date, in 1873 and 1872:

Atlantic ports, 1873...1bs. Black, 9,229,946
Atlantic ports, 1872..... 8,062,176 Green. 10,500,081 10,804,939 Total. 26,965,183 22,172,869 7,285,156 3,395,754

The Indirect receipts at New York, principally overland receipts from San Francisco, have been 37,209 pkgs, aluce Janusry1, against 58,203 fast year. Imports at San Francisco from Jan. 1 to April 1, were 185,445 lbs. of China and 697,170 lbs. of Japan tes.

COFFEE.

The tightness of money and high cost of gold is the chief drawback to a good trade in coffee at the moment, and while these adverse influences continue to prevail there is little probability of any reaction from the current sluggishness. Buyers are taking ont limited amounts to meet the current walts of the trade in the country, sud as the retail distribution is said to be steadily improving, holders here look for an improved call, as soon as financial nffairs become a little more settled. Quotations are, however, a fraction lower. The Rio telegram in this week has had a good effect upon our market, and holders are firm at the revised range of quotations. Prices have advanced 100 rs. from the previous telegram, but exchange is off a fraction, so that the variation in the value of coffees brought out would be very slight. The India coffees sell in a small way into consumption, and are slightly changed in value Stocks remain light, and some grades are barely quotable, the supplies being so small as to barely afford buyers a selection. The transactions here and at the ontports since oor last include 4,191 bags Rio, ex "Thetis," here at 17%c.; 1,300 do ex "Warwick," 4,114 do. ex "Alice," at the Rosds at 17%c, and 6,884 ex "E. C. #### SUGAIC.

The market for raw sugars has been moderately active during the past week, though the tone is still heavy, owing to the stringency in money and the general dulness in trade resulting therefrom. Holders have shown a diaposition to meet the views of buyers, and prices are quoted about a quarter off from last week. The weakness in refined goods has made refiners unwilling to pay full figures for raws, although they are still running their works, and are willing to buy where importers concede sufficiently to give them a The call for grocery grades has been rather better this week, and considerable sales of Demerara and Porto Rico have been closed. For refined the market remains quiet, and quotations are off about Mc. from last week, The feeling at the close is rather steadier, but with pretty full supplies, and the demand falling off, buyers may still be considered as having the advantage, Considerable sales for export are reported. The sales of raw sugars since our last include 3,009 hhds. Caba, 71/081/c.; 1,694 do. Centrifugal, 81/091/c.; 155 do. Porto Rico, 8%@9%c.; 125 do. clarified Demerara, 10@10%c.; 3,236 boxes Centrifugal at 8%@9%c.; 50 do. Havana, 8%c.

MOLASSES.

There has been a fair trade call during the week and with increasing offerings of foreign grades adapted to grocery consumption, buyers are making more liberal selections. This stock does not come in very freely as yet, but advance lots are arriving and are placed with very little delay. The trade in refining molasses is still restricted by the illiberal offerings, the stock of Cuba being in a very reduced condition. Refiners show some desire to operate at the recently lowered prices, and their purchases would doubtless be on a more liberal scale if the stock were to be had. The inquity for domestic continues good, and our stock is gradually becoming less. As yet prices have not advanced materially, but with the supply on hand and the very small stock which is yet to come forward from the South there is likely to be such a scarcity as will result in considerably higher rates, and holders who are in an easy financial condition at the moment show but little auxiety to press their stock upon buyers. Syrups are quiet, without notable change. Sales have been 394 hhds, and 36 tes. Caba for boiling, sold to arrive at 34c.; 37 hbds., 8 tes. and 9 bbls. Clenfuegos Muscovado, 44c.; 100 Porto Rico, 58@60c.; 327 lbds. do., private terms; 120 bbls, New Orleans, 71@73c.

THE DRY GOODS TRADE,

Fainay, P. M., April 18, 1873.

The western trade is becoming more brisk, and our jobbers have been telerably well engaged during the current week in filling orders, and supplying buyers from that section. This demand comes unusually late, and does not give promise of being fully up to the expectations of dealers. The principal drawback seems still to be the stringency in money. Collections in the country are made with difficulty, and dealers are prevented from operating beyond their actual needs, which are restricted, as the lack of money also affects the purchases of consumers. It is hoped that the month of May will be more active than usual, but so much depends upon the condition of affairs in the money market that it is difficult to form any very clear idea of what is likely to occur. If the monetary stringency is likely to continue through the summer months dealers might as well hold on to their goods, as to distribute them and then be unable to collect their bills.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS .- The market for standard grades of cottons remains steady, and is without notable change from our last report. Both brown and bleached sheetings are in fair request in standard grades; and full prices are realized on all of the leading brands. There is an over supply of many of the lower grades, and prices are weak. Four-yard browns have declined somewhat, many of the principal brands being reduced 1c. from our last quotations. The changes in bleached goods have been few, and unimportant. Colored cottons are in fair request, and with stocks tolerably well reduced prices are fully sustained. The print market exhibits no new features, but remains steady, though sales are on a somewhat restricted scale. The business of the season thus far has been fairly satisfactory, both as regards the volume of sales and prices. Cloths have now settled down to a point where printers can make good profits, though the bulk of the goods turned out so far have been made from cloths bought at higher prices, and the current rates have only raid a fair profit. The market is barely steady, though well cleared of stock. Other cotton goods are without notable change, and remain stendy.

DOMESTIC WOOLEN GOODS .- The market continues quiet, and prices are for the most part nominally unchanged. The better qualities of fancy cassimeres have met fairly active sale, and the supply new held by agents is small. Lower grades continue in over stock, and are nominal. Holders would sell at pretty easy rates, but there is not demand enough to warrant any material reduction of rates. Cloths are steady and sell only in a small way. Clothiers are buying very sparingly of Winter goods, and the general trade is devoid of animation. Jobbers report slightly increased sales, though their business is below expectations. Flannels remain dull and weak. Dress fabrics are selling well, and are firmly held.

Foreign Goods.—There has been a good retail business, and both jobbers and importers have had a fair trade in the leading styles of dress fabrics. The call is mainly for stuples, and the few new and popular shades of fancy dress fabrics which are placed readily at full prices. Considerable excitement was created early in the week by the failure of Messrs. Escher & Co., importers of continental goods. Their suspension is said to have resulted from losses sustained in their foreign connections rather than from the unremunerative returns from their trade bere, although the branch in which they were engaged has not been a profitable one during the present season. The high price of gold and decline in goods is unfavorable for trade, and importers are feeling rather discouraged at their prospects, a fact that augurs a curtailment of imports for the fall trade.

We arnex a few particulars of leading articles of domestic manufacture, our prices quoted being those of leading jobbers:

OUR SAFEGUARDS AGAINST PANIC.

Not a few persons in our financial community are anxiously pondering the question whether we are soon to have a financial panic. Formerly this country used to be desolated by auch convulsions about once every ten years. Why then ought we to expect freedom much longer? In the long, tiresome stringency, which is so slow to pass off, and has been almost uninterrupted since October, is there not a confirmation of this fear? Have we not here as elsewhere a note of warning, a signal of danger, a proof that our exemption cannot be kept up?

In answer, we have no hesitation in saying that there is much in the present condition of our banks, much in the expansion of general credits, which urges caution and foretokens danger. But still those dangers have their safeguards. The great safeguard against a monetary panic lies in the reserves of our banks. Let us see how well prepared hey are to protect us. Last week we published a table, on i page 514, which shows this at a glance. Our 1,947 banks owe 992 millions, and they hold 228 millions of reserves, of which 96 millions are in legal tender notes, 16 millions in apecie, and 93 millions in balances held by redeeming agents at Besides this the banks held 15 the financial centres. millions of national bank currency, available for immediate payment. In case of a panic they could also fall back upon a part of their 409 millions of government bonds, and on a part of their 908 millions of loans and discounts. Every financial man can see how with these safeguards a general panic is almost impossible, and will continue impossible so long as our banks are kept strong in reserve. The method by which our bank reserves act as a preservation against panic is easy to trace. They offer available means for instant use. They prevent the necessity of calling in loans too violently in time of pressure, and of annihilating capital by throwing securities on a market which is too sick to absorb them.

In this country we have rarely had mercantile panics except from two sources. The first is from broken bank currency. Under the old State bank system such disasters were frequent, but in our national bank system they are impossible. The second kind of revulsions are called credit panics. They arise from a paralysis of bank credits. It is against this species of disaster that the bank reserves offer so complete a protection. So long as our reserves are kept up, and the banking machinery is kept strong, panies, it would seem, are not likely to trouble us. The stringency which still disturbs our money market, however other wise explained, does not necessarily forebode an approaching panic. It is the result of movements which can be counteracted, and have now almost spent their force. And among these one of the most active is due, perhaps, to the tight money cliques.

Their efforts to keep up the monetary stringency by artificial means have not as yet been altogether abandoned. and this week we have had a very irregular market, with sudden and fitful changes. But currency is now coming in and freely from the country, and other forces conducive to relaxation are so actively at work, that the cliques are fast losing their control over the rates of interest. A movewent has been proposed to get a resolution of the Stock Exchange and a mutual agreement of its members to charge a single instead of a double rate for money, and to stop the plan of charging 1 and 1 commission for loans in addition to the regular rate of 7 per cent. This method of charging, causes the rates for loans to run up more rapidly in a time of monetary trouble than if the method of computation were fixed at so much per cent. in a single rate, as formerly. If the usury bill becomes a law, this reform in the rates is likely to be made. The double method of charging interest is of recent origin, and has grown up with other abuses under the baneful shadow of the penal statutes against usury. Mr. Winslow's new bill, as passed by the Senate contains almost the same provisions which were rejected a month ago. The only change of importance is that the amended bill does not interfere with the usury privileges of corporations as did the original one, The probability of its passing is variously estimated. Unless some such measure is adopted and comes into operation before next Fall, the money market is expected to work so tight during the Autumn and Winter months of this year as seriously to injure business. It is with regard to that contingency rather than to any present relief of the money market that usury repeal seems to be attracting just now the chief attention.

Many of the shrewdest observers are discouraged at the slow progress of returning ease. We are now at the close of April, and it had been supposed by some persons that a fortnight ago all symptoms of stringency would have passed away. Against these premature hopes we have often warned our readers. If they will refer to the reports of past years they will find that after the April drain the return of money is usually more tardy and the resulting development of ease more sluggish than after some of the other periodical drains of currency to the country. One reason of this is the opening activity of spring business, which is this season even more retarded than usual. There is, therefore, no ground for surprise at the delay this year, nor any just reason for alarm. The dilatory return of deposits and currency from the interior is perfectly easy to understand. It indicates no probable panic, nor any other coming troubles beyond such as are connected with the expansion of credits, the growth of business, the too rapid conversion of floating into fixed capital, the perturbations from the fires at Chicago and Boston, the growth of our national wealth, the development of our productive power and the pressure of these expansive forces upon our banking and monetary machinery.

PUBLICITY AND THE TREASURY.

The public are becoming impatient to receive some official statement as to what Mr. Richardson has done in regard to the 300 million loan. Except the fact that a special agent of the Treasury was sent a few days ago to England to convey some of the bonds for delivery in London, nothing definite has been made known since the loan was offered by the Syndicate, and the books of subscription closed three months ago. Some fifteen millions of the new bonds are supposed to have been purchased in this country with the understanding that the rest of the loan was to be sold in Europe. Out of respect to the just claims of these purchasers, as well as on public grounds, the Secretary of the Treasury should lose no time in giving a full account of the whole transaction so far as it has gone, including a statement of the resources at command for the payment of the 50 millions of five-twenties called for June 1.

If there were no other reasons for insisting that this information should not be longer kept back, the general ob ligation of publicity might suffice, But other reasons in the present case are worthy of notice. For example there is the fact that for various purposes we are heavy borrowers in Europe, and that the loan markets there are perturbed and sensitive. We need large amounts of capital, which we are less likely to attract into our railroad, municipal, and state securities, if these new fives of the Syndicate are to be kept hanging over the foreign markets. Only a week ago the report was started to the great annoylance of some of our borrowing corporations that the Bank of England had determined to "shut down" on American securities, and had actually called in a loan in such securities of four millions sterling. To account for this it was said that a strong clique, composed chiefly of Americans; had determined to make a combination for disturbing the London money market, and adopting the lock-up tactics, which have been so troublesome here. Six or eight millions sterling of gold were to be drawn suddenly out of the Bank of England with a view to start this bold apeculation. Of course, if any such wild acheme as this were tried it would ruin and crush its projectors, and this the tight-money men are shrewd enough to know. Both rumors were evidently got up for speculative purposes, and are unworthy of the notice they have received. The Bank of England does not lend on foreign securities, and the discrimination against American credits in London, if in any case it may exist, is due rather to other restrictive causes than to the fear of any clique combination to deplete the Bank of England of its reserve at this unlikely period. One of these causes will probably be found to be the monetary stringency which prevails in Germany, and the fact that a good deal of the foreign capital we have been borrowing here during the last few months comes to us through German houses which have branch establishments in London. We need not cite illustrations of the sensitiveness of those foreign money markets in which we are seeking to borrow large sums for railroad and other purposes. Enough has been said to prove that the prospects of success in these efforts depend in part on the movements of these Syndicate fives.

To break the force of some of these arguments, it is pretended that the Syndicate loan does not absorb new capital; that it is merely a change of securities, a conversion of sixes into fives. So far 'as the Government is concerned, this is true; for the Treasury will issue new fives and take in an equal amount of old sixes. It is a simple exchange. But so far as the money markets are concerned, the transaction is not so simple. The sixes to be called in are held largely in Germany. But Germany refuses the new fives; she wants few, if any. These rejected fives the Syndicate will have to sell in England or here, or wherever a market opens to them. In these new markets thus opened the new fives absorb new capital. They prevent that new capital from investing itself in other bonds, as it might do, to the profit of our railroad and other enterprises, if the competition of the Syndicate bonds were out of the way.

For several years we have not been so dependent as now on foreign capital. Ever since the beginning of our civil war, Germany offered a market for our bonds. During the last two years she has ceased to absorb them so freely. Now she is selling her sixes to the Syndicate, and is taking no fives in their stead. Fortunately, the English market is opening to us as the German market is closing. The Syndicate negotiation when completed will thus have the effect of withdrawing a large mass of the sixes now held in Germany, paying them off in cash, and redeeming them with new fives sold for eash in England. We do not here inquire how far the exchange is for the advantage of this country. All we want to show is that the transaction is not so simple as it has been represented; that the Syndicate do absorb new capital; that that capital might our harwise be expected to invest itself in other American competing securities; and, therefore, that it is right that the public who are interested in those railroad securities should seek regular information as to what the Syndicate is doing.

The necessity for this publication is all the greater from the vague hints as to the time within which the negotiation is to run. The whole 300 millions are to be taken by the 1st of December next. If the Syndicate cannot take the whole they are not obliged to do so; but if any part remains untaken at that time the Treasury can sell such residue to other parties, and the Syndicate forfeits all claim to them. The arrangement with the Syndicate is therefore of the nature of a "eall." The Treasury has given to the Syndicate an exclusive "call" for the whole of the 300 millions of the new fives, and whoever wants these bonds can only get them through the Syndicate, the Treasury having given up the right to sell them or dispose of them to any other persons whatsoever. In illustration of this part of the contract it has been pointed out that the Alabama indemnity is by law decided to be invested in five per cent bonds; and no other fives but those of the Syndicate being authorized, it has been questioned whether the Department will not have to buy these bonds from the Syndicate, and, if so, whether that body will be permitted to charge a commission to the Government on the transaction. However this point may be decided, it is certain that the Syndicate have an exclusive call on the 300 millions of bonds, and within the period prescribed they may take their own time for negotiating and distributing them to the public. These being the terms of the contract made on the 23d of January between the Syndicate and the Treasury, there are obviously pressing obligations resting on Mr. Richardson to keep the public informed about this as well as the other business of his office. Publicity as to this branch of the Treasury operations is absolutely indispensable to the public credit. Without the fullest publicity no administration can long retain the confidence of the people.

CURRENT TOPICS.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT INVESTIGATION AND THE COAL QUESTION .- The leading subject agitating England the past Winter has been her supply of coal, an article of evident necessity, affecting, as it does, every domestic economy, and what is of more importance, every species of industry. The manufactures of Great Britain, from whatever other sources they may receive support, find cheap fuel an indispensable condition. Now that steam has, in a great measure, driven the old sailing fleets from the ocean. even her carrying trade, without low priced coal, loses one element of its strength and prosperity. Cheap coal is cheap labor. It is for this reason that the cotton of America is sent to England to be spun into fabrics that are exported to the East Indies. the native home of the cotton plant; for this reason that the wool of Australia is shipped to England to be woven into broadcloth and sent back from England to Australia, in the shape of ready made clothes; it is for this reason that tin from Banca, copper from Chili and Australia, sugar from the Antilles and Mauritius are poured into England in their rough and unmanufactured condition to be smelted and refined and adapted for use by those who require them. Eugland knows that the centre of gravity of the industrial world will always be found where the labor of ap propriating the native forces of nature is least costly. A coal famine there would jeopardize not only her industrial and commercial supremacy, but might end in their transfer to more favored countries where the great motive forces of nature exist in the greatest abundance.

The coal question is therefore with England the great question, and the advance this winter of 150 per cent in the price caused so much uneasiness that a thorough investigation was instituted on the part of the British Parliament. This investigation has now been made, and reveals the fact that the scarcity of coal is due not to the present or immediately prospective exhaustion, but to other eauses. It may be attributed chiefly to the derangement of labor, due partly to Parliamentary legislation and partly to the attitude of labor toward capital employed in the mines. For a considerable period the demand for this article of prime necessity was in excess of the supply; when that was the case it was impossible to say to what pitch the price would rise, and this not necessarily on account of the exhaustion of the coal measures, but on account of the inadequacy of labor requisite for bringing up from the mines the amount of coal needed to satisfy the manpfacturing, domestic and export demand. The workmen stepped | New York.

in and said "You coal owners are making enormous profits; we must share them." Up went wages. What was the result? The men, finding they could earn as much in four days as in six did not take advantage of the rise in prices to earn more in the aggregate, but were content to work four days and lie idle two. The consequence was the coal miners were werse off, the mannfacturing industry erippled, consumers impoverished, but only the owners of mines and dealers enriched by the famine.

While it is undesirable that Parliament should interfere with the laws of supply and demand, it is not unlikely that the investigation and report of the committee may be of service in directing attention to the wasteful consumption of fuel. It is stated that a total want of economy characterizes its use in the great industrial centres of England, Scotland and Wales, where fuel has hitherto been both abundant and cheap. If this investigation shall lead to a less wasteful use, it will have accomplished a very desirable end. Fer after all, the coal-fields of England, though large in extent when compared with those of Central and Western Europe, are small when compared with the inexhaustible supplies of China and the United States, and must in the long run yield less and less fuel and at a greater cost.

In this connection we see the importance of a wise system of immigration, so as to attract increased numbers to our coal, iron, cotton and grain fields of the discontented operatives and laborers of England and Germany, who believe themselves underpaid. Here under the stimulus of a wholesome demand for labor and adequate remuneration, the old conditions of employment would yield to healthier ones, and the miner no longer contented with four days' labor would begin to realize the possibility of making a competence for old age, and escaping the condition of pauperism.

PALACE LIVE STOCK CARS.—We notice with pleasure that a much-needed want is about to be supplied by the organization of a palace-car stock company for the purpose of affording the maximum of comfort to beef cattle on their way to market. cars are intended to be run without change from Denison, Texas, to New York and other eastern cities. It is asserted that they will be so arranged that the animals can be fed, watered, and can sleep comfortably when en route, and will arrive at their destination in good condition. Should this scheme be successfully carried out-and we see no reason why it should not be-the stock raisers of the Southwest, and particularly of Texas, will at once find a remunerative market for the immense herds of cattle that now have but a nominal value barely equal to the actual valuation of their hide and tallow; while on the other hand the introduction of this beef into the New York and other eastern markets will benefit the consumers by bringing it in competition with the Northern and Eastern stall-fed beef, and causing such a reduction in the price of that commodity as to make it an article of consumption, no longer a luxury, but so cheap as to place it within the easy reach of the poor as well as the rich.

The Brazil Trade.—The prospective establishment of a line of steamers between New Orleans and Brazil is agitation the commercial mind of the Crescent City. The proposition is to run the vessels semi-monthly, touching, both on the outward and return voyage, at the ports of Jamaica, Trinidad, Para, Maranham, Pernambuco, Bahia, and Rio Janeiro. Certainly the enterprise suggested would add not only to the prosperity of New Orleans, but to the producing interests of the entire Mississippi Valley. In endorsing the project the Picayune, as an argument in favor of it, makes the statement that the island of Trinidad atone, with its adjacent Orinoco Valley trade, annually imports 40,000 barrels of flour and other produce from New York, Baltimore, and Richmond.

—We have received from the author, Mr. Chas. Hallock, a new and interesting work on fishing, entitled "The Fishing Tourist." Mr. Hallock is a young and vigorous spertsman, and from hasty glances at his book we judge that he handles the pen as deftly as the fly rod. Several of his various sketches of travel and sporting adventures have appeared heretofore in Harper's Magazine, and have invited much interest. In his new volume he presents in a concise form all the information necessary to enable one to proceed to all the different salmon and trout regions of America, and gives it in a semi-narrative style, peculiarly interesting. The book will evidently become a valuable acquisition to every sportsman's library. The publishers are Messrs. Harper & Brothers, New York.

further reduced-namely, to about 33 per cent-the money market has remained firm in tone, but the directors of the Bank have not altered the official minimum, which is still, therefore, at four per cent. The Bank return shows changes incidental to the period of the year, viz., changes arising from the payments at the termination of the financial year, and of the quarter, and also shows the distribution of the dividends. There has been a considerable decrease in the amount of other securities, but the total is still heavy, and amounts to £27,548,496. The reserve and the stock of bullion are both smaller-the former by £721,586, and the latter by £547,916. The present quotations for money are as follows:

The imports of bullion this week have been considerable; but with the exception of nearly £600,000 received in sovereigns from Australia, the entire amount has been absorbed by the German demand. The silver market has been rather quiet. The following prices of bullion are from the circular of Messrs. Pixley, Abell, Langley & Blake:

The somewhat quieter aspect of the money market has had a good effect upon the stock markets, and in British railway shares the movement has been generally upward. Business has not however, been active, owing, in some measure, to the advent of the Easter holidays. To-day business has been rather quiet, but the tone has been firm. The following were the closing prices of consols and the principal American securities this afternoon:

The wheat trade during the week has been dull, and prices are lower for English produce. The weather has been faverable for all agricultural work, and the prospect is encouraging. Farmers, therefore, and especially those who hold inferior or sprouted wheat, are very anxious to realize, as with the return of warm weather, the produce will deteriorate rather than improve. Good and fine qualities of wheat, however, are not much cheaper, and being scarce, are likely to maintain their value.

The following statement shows the imports and exports of cereal produce into and from the United Kingdom since harvest, viz., from September 1 to the close of last week, compared with the corresponding periods in the three previous years:

The annual financial statement was delivered by the Chancellor of the Exchequer on Monday evening, and occupied but little time. It has been proposed to reduce the income tax to 3d, in the pound, and to diminish the sugar duties by one half. The former being popular, is commended, but the latter is deprecated, as it is not likely to benefit the consumer. As is well known the large increase in the revenue during the past year was due almost entirely to the agmented consumption of spirits. The revenue for the present year is estimated at £76,617,000, and the expenditure at £71,871,000.

The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad.—The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad is destined to attract great attention and interest this year, not only from Railroad and financial men, but from the this year, not only from Rallread and financial men, but from the general public, who are all deeply interested in the subject of EAST AND WEST TRUNK LINES of railroad. The company has completed its great work of constructing a through line from the navigable waters of the Ohio River to Richmond, on the James River, and has been running through freight and passenger trains on regular schedules for some time past. It is now propos d to extend the road eastwardly to a terminus on deep water near the mouth of the York or James Rivers, where the largest steamers can lay alongside of its wharves and load directly from the cars. A bridge will also be built across the Ohio River at Huntington; the western terminus. In a word, the company having finished the great enterprise of constructing a railroad from Atlantic tide water to the Ohio River will now put the finishing touches on its work by a short extension to one of the finest harbors on the coast by adding to its equipment, bridging the Ohio and perfecting its western connections. It is hardly necessary to refer to the parties connected with this enterprise, as many of them are well known among our leading merchants and railroad men, embracing known among our leading merchants and railroad men, embracing the names of Mr. C. P. Huntington, Mr. A. A. Low, Mr. W. H. Aspiuwall, Mr. David Stewart and others. Messrs, Fisk & Hatch, the financial agents, have obtained a reputation for exercising great care in regard to the securities which they negotiate, and the Central Pacific, Western Pacific, and first mortgage gold sixes of the Chesapeake and Ohio, which have been sold by them, are held in high estimation. They now offer $3,000,000 of the Chesapeake and Ohio 7 per cent gold bonds, the bonds being based on the new properties of the company, as well as a second lien upon the completed main line, the particulars of which will be found by referring to the advertisement. The price of the be found by referring to the advertisement. The price of the bonds is 90 and accrued interest from January.

Portland & Ogdensburg — Vermont Division.—This is another great trunk line, new in process of construction from the Lakes to the seaboard. It will extend from Ogdensburg and Lakes to the seaboard. It will extend from Ogdensburg and from Montreal to the Atlantic coast, at Portland, and is destined to compete, as soon as finished, for the immense traffic between the West and the seaboard, and to assist in giving the most practical solution to the great problem of through transportation, in which the people of the West are now so deeply interested. The wonderful progress of the West are country has continually furnished to the East and West railroad lines more traffic than they could easily accompodate and their rand strides of prosperfurnished to the East and West railroad lines more traffic than they could easily accommodate, and their rapid strides of prosperity and increase in earnings have been the astonishment of railroad men in this country and in Europe. It is only necessary cenumerate the Boston & Albany, the New York Central and Hudson, the Eric Railway (for the traffic of Eric has been enormous notwithstanding the era of Fisk and his associates), the Pennsylvania Railroad, and the Baltimore & Ohio.

From these facts the greatest interest centres in every new line of road which forms a through route to the West. As to the Portland & Ogdenshurg 'Railroad, it will form a short line from the excellent harbor of Portland to the city of Montreal, and by its western division to Ogdensburg; the distance from Montreal to Portland by this route is 57 miles less than to any other Atlantic port, and the distance to Ogdensburg 50 miles shorter than any other route between the lakes and coast.

any other route between the lakes and coast

An important feature brought forward in regard to the con-struction of this road is the economy with which its funds are expended. Purchasers of railroad bonds always desire the most particular information as to the parties who have charge of the financial management and construction of a road and as to the manner in which its funds are expended. In this respect the Portland & Ogdensburg is exceptionally fortunate, as its financial agents, Messrs. Fairbanks & Co., are probably as well known as any firm in New England, and the fact that they are themselves largely interested in the road, and that the work on the Vermont Division is immediately under their direction, furnishes the best possible guarantee of an honest and efficient management. On the Vermont Division, it is stated that the work has been done for less than the original estimates, and the issue of bonds is limited, at most, to $20,000 per mile. Sixty miles of road are completed, and the balance is being rapidly pushed forward.

The first mortgage 6 per cent gold bonds are offered by Messrs. Fairbanks & Co., No. 311 Broadway. Their advertisement will be found in another column. Purchasers of railroad bonds always desire the most

The Reduction of Freight Rates.—The reduction in the freight hariff effected by the great trunk railroads centering in New York comes in good time to afford substantial relief to the business interests of this city. It takes place this year a few weeks earlier than the resumption of navigation, a concession which will be duly appreciated by all concerned, but which is none the less due to the forthcoming active competition of the water routes. This reduction, of course, will only continue until the suspension of navigation in November next again restores to the railroad companies the practical monopoly of transportation. the railroad companies the practical monopoly of transportation. The following is the schedule of rates, per 100 pounds of freight, agreed upon by the New York Central, Erie and Pennsylvania Railroad companies:

The new rates range from 20 to 30 per cent below the water freight tariff, a reduction which can hardly fail to exercise a favorable influence on business. The freight tariff constitutes an important element in the calculations of buyers from the interior, and a large amount of goods is generally held over in expectation of the usual spring reduction of rates. The aggregate of goods thus detained this season is probably not larger than usual, but it is sufficient to impart considerable activity to business.—Daily

BANKING AND FINANCIAL.

BANKING HOUSE OF FISK & HATCH, 5 NASSAU STREET.

New York, April 24, 1873.

The present high price of Government Securities is increasing the demand for first-class Railroad Bonds; and as the amounts now offering are comparatively small, it is reasonable to suppose the present difference of from TWENTY to THIRTY per cent cannot be obtained for any great leugth of time. Government Bonds are higher now than for several years past. A "Five-Twenty" Bond at 120, paying six per cent on the par value, yields but a small income on its market price, and if an entirely safe investment can be obtained with a difference of 200 to 300 dollars on cach 1,000, it is largely to the interest of the holders to make the exchange.

We are recommending the fellowing for such Exchanges or for new investments—all of them payable in gold, principal and interest:

The CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO SIX PER CENTS at 88 and accrued interest, interest payable May and November; these bonds are issued in deminations of $100, $500 and $1,000. The road, 420 miles in length, is now completed, and the business offering is very large, and increasing daily.

The WESTERN PACIFIC SIX PER CENTS at the market price, which is to day 95, flat. These bonds are of $1,000 each; interest January and July. This road having been consolidated with the great CENTRAL PACIFIC, and payment of its bonds, principal and interest, assumed by them, we see no good reason why they should not soon approximate in price to Central Pacifica—now 103, and becoming very scarce in the market.

Also, the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO SEVEN PER CENTS, interest payable January and July, secured by a First Mortgage on the Extension to deep water on the Chesepeake Bay, on the proposed Kanawha River Branch, and on the Great Bridge to be built over the Ohio River at Huntington, and a Second Mortgage on the Main Line, with all its equipments, depots, &c.

Only $3,000,000 of these Bonds will be offered for sale at present. Price 90 and accrued interest.

We consider them amply secured, and a very desirable investment. The proceeds will be used in adding largely to to the present equipment, and in extending to deep water ou the Chesapeake Bay, where the largest steamers in the world can load and unload alonside the cars.

The amount of money to be invested within the next few months will be very large; the Government disbursement alone for the next three months will reach $100,000,000, and the May and July dividends of the banks, railroads and other corporations as much more.

We continue to deal in Government and Central Pacific Bonds, receive deposits on which we allow interest, make collections, execute orders at the Stock Exchange per cash, and conduct a general banking business.

FRIDAY EVENING, April 25, 1873.

The Money Market.—For several days after the issue of our last report there was a material improvement in the tone of monetary affairs, and the general feeling was so much better that a decided buoyancy was shown in stocks and other securities. On Wednesday and Thursday, however, there was a partial return of the high rates and call loans were done at 1-16 and 3-32 per day in addition to legal interest, and this was followed by a material relaxation on Thursday afternoon when money was offered below 7 per cent currency. To-day (Friday) the rates in the morning were 1-64 and interest, and later in the day 7 gold to 7 currency.

The most important feature of the situation has been the return movement of currency towards this city, which, as reported by the express companies, has been of very considerable amount, and now includes a fair proportion of legal tenders. The Bank statement should, therefore, present a much better exhibit tomorrow, and the reserves show an excess above the legal requirement.

Business in commercial paper has been greatly stimulated by the appearance of a more permanent relaxation in the money market, and the volume of transactions has been large within a range of 10@12 per cent for first class names.

In regard to the Usury law the Senate at Albany has passed what is known as the Winslow bill, which provides for a smaller penalty for usury in forfeiting the interest only instead of the principal of the loan as heretofore. This is generally considered very unsatisfactory, as it does not at all answer the purpose of those who desire to have free and legal transactions in money at the current market rates; this law still makes it illegal and wrong to take over 7 per cent, but simply reduces the extent of the penalty.

Advices from London indicate a quiet tone in financial affairs; the Bank loses £123,000 in bullion this week, and the discount rate remains unchanged at 4 per cent. The Bank of France shows a decrease in specie of 250,000 francs.

j The last statement of our city banks (April 19) showed a decrease in the deficiency of reserves of $1,041,350, so as to leave a total deficiency of only $983,950 below the 25 per cent required by law. The total liabilities were $214,880,600, and the reserves $53,720,-150. In the national banks there was an excess of $41,325.

150. In the national banks there was an excess of $41,520.

United States Bonds.—Government securities have continued buoyant and active. The movement is simply a continuation of that which we have previously noticed, the principal purchases being on foreign account, and the market being practically bare of bonds. Unless there is a falling off in the demand or a material influx of bonds to this market attracted by the high prices, it seems probable that prices must go still higher.

State and Rallroad Bonds.—There has been little doing in Southern State bonds, which are essentially speculative securities, and we only notice a demand for the coupons of Virginia bonds, which are receivable in that State for taxes. The business in railroad bonds has been much better during the pastfew days, and sales at the Board as well as private transactions through brokers have been decidedly on the increase. Within the next ten weeks disbursements on account of interest payments by the U. S. Governmeut, and by states, citics, banks and railroad companies will exceed the sum of $100,000,000, and on account of the relatively high price of government bonds and of many railroad stocks, it seems more than probable that a considerable part of this money will be reinvested in railroad bonds. If the expected relaxation in money results in a healthy 6@7 per cent market the prospect for railroad bonds seems quite favorable. The Land Department of the Union Pacific Railroad report as sold during the month of March last 17,626 acres, at an average price of $4 79 per acre, amounting to $84,461. The total sales to April 1, 1873, are 702,437 acres, at an average price of $4 27 per acre, amounting to $3,008,430.

Railroad and Miscellaneous Stocks.-The stock marke has not been so much a centre of attraction as last week, and the volume of business on a much smaller scale. The buoyancy which carried prices up at the close of last week and the first of this was taken advantage of by some parties to sell, and as a consequence of this movement to realize the market became heavy under considerable sales. Since Wednesday the leading feature has been quieness, prices remaining tolerably steady under the prevailing dulness.

Among the new speculative stocks has been New Jersey Southern, which is said to be under the control of Mr. Jay Gould. The Atlantic and Great Western, not having obtained a lease of the Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati and Indianapolis road it has been reported that the road may pass into the control of the Lake Shore party

Prices ranged to-day within a moderate limit, and closed steady.

The Gold Market.—Gold has been less active on speculative transactions, and closes \( \frac{1}{2} \) lower than last week. The tendency seems to be towards a lower price, but whether this indicates merely a halt in the upward speculation or the beginning of a more permanent decline is not well ascertained.

The approaching disbursement of May interest by the Government is the principal element of importance, so far as the supply of the market is concerned. It is also stated that \( \frac{$1,090,000}{0,000} \) of coin is on the way here from London.

On gold loans, the rates paid for carrying to-day were \( 3, 2, 4, 5, 6 \) and \( 7 \) per cent.

At the Treasury sale of \( \frac{$1,500,000}{0,000} \) on Thursday, the total bids amounted to \( \frac{$5,810,000}{0,000} \).

Customs receipts for the week were \( \frac{$2,528,000}{0,000} \).

Customs receipts for the week were $2,528,000.

The following table will show the course of the gold premium each day of the past week:

Foreign Exchange.-The rates for sterling have been quite variable, and shown almost daily fluctuations, though the general tendency has been upward, and the closing rates to-night for both tendency has been upward, and the closing rates to-night for both 60 days and short sight sterling are about 1½ per cent higher than last week. On Tuesday nominal rates were put up to 108½ and 109½, but this advance was not fully maintained, and there was a subsequent decline to 108½ and 109½. To-day there was a firmer feeling, and leading drawers advanced their asking price to 108½ for 60 days and 109½ for short sight, actual business being done at a concession of ½@½.
